INTERNATIONAL COMMODITY PRICE DEVELOPMENTS

The international commodity prices of gold, platinum, copper, nickel and brent crude oil retreated, during the month of May 2019.

Precious Metals

Precious metal prices declined largely due to strengthening of the US dollar, amid robust U.S. economic data. The strong performance in equities, coupled with high investor appetite for riskier assets also exerted downward pressure on precious metal prices. Resultantly, gold prices declined by 0.2%, from a monthly average of US$1,287.04/oz in April 2019 to US$1,283.86/oz in May 2019.

Similarly, platinum prices fell by 6%, from a monthly average of US$886.85/oz in the previous month, to US$833.64/oz during the month under review. Weak industrial demand from automotive industries, following a drop in car sales from the U.S to Europe and China, also contributed to the decline in platinum prices.

Figure 1 depicts the evolution of gold and platinum prices for the period from May 2018 to May 2019.

Base Metals

Base metal prices were weighed down by mounting trade tensions between the US and China. The trade war has raised market concerns about global trade and investment prospects, negatively affecting the demand outlook for a number of commodities, including base metals.

Consequently, nickel prices retreated by 13.1%, from US$13,800.11/ton in the previous month to US$11,992.76/ton in May 2019. Copper prices also fell by 7.1%, to end the month under review at an average of US$5,987.27/ton.

Brent Crude Oil

Brent crude oil prices retreated during the month under review, following the unexpected build-up in U.S. crude inventories. The decline was, however, moderated by relatively tight supply, amid OPEC output cuts and political tensions in the Middle East. Against this backdrop, the price of crude oil went down by 1.6%, from a monthly average of US$71.45/barrel in April 2019 to US$70.28/barrel in May 2019, as shown in Figure 3.

MERCHANDISE TRADE DEVELOPMENTS

During the month of May 2019, total merchandise trade increased by 12.4% to US$780.0 million, from US$693.7 million realised in the previous month. The increase was largely underpinned by the significant increase in exports, as well as marginal increase in monthly imports.

Merchandise Exports

Merchandise exports increased by 23.9%, from US$277.0 million in April 2019 to US$343.2 million in May 2019. Figure 3 shows merchandise exports for the period from January 2018 to May 2019.

The increase in monthly merchandise exports was largely on account of higher export revenues from nickel; gold; flue-cured tobacco; industrial diamonds; and Jewellery.

Table 1 shows the major export commodities for the months of April 2019 and May 2019.

MONETARY DEVELOPMENTS²

Annual broad money³ supply growth increased by 12.37 percentage points, from 45.14% in April 2019 to 57.51% in May 2019. The growth reflected an increase in broad money stock, from $8 258.92 million in May 2018 to $13,009.04 million in May 2019. Part of the increase in broad money supply was due to the valuation of the foreign currency deposits in local currency.

The annual growth in money supply was, in large part, attributable to expansions in demand deposits, 69.31%; negotiable certificates of deposits, 58.43%; currency in circulation, 31.39%; and time deposits, 11.74%.

Month-on-month, broad money supply stood at $13,009.04 million in May 2019, a 14.58% increase from $11,353.37 million registered in April 2019.

² All monetary numbers valued in RTGS since adoption of an interbank market determined exchange rate in February 2019.

In terms of proportions, demand deposits accounted for 59.66% of broad money; FCA deposits, 23.30%; time deposits, 12.39%; currency in circulation, 3.58%; and negotiable certificates of deposits, 1.07%.

Annual growth in private sector credit stood at 16.20% in May 2019, compared to 7.58% in April 2019. On a monthly basis, credit to the private sector increased by 10.08%, from $4 012.06 million in April 2019, to close at $4 416.48 million in May 2019.

The distribution of credit during the month under review was dominated by households which accounted for 24.62% of total credit, followed by agriculture, 19.47%; distribution 12.75%; services, 12.07%; manufacturing, 10.07%; financial organisations and investment, 9.14%;

³ From November 2017, broad money adjusted by a reclassification of lines of credit that were incorrectly classified as deposits included in broad money. This reduced the stock of money and at the same time reducing the net foreign assets of other depository corporations.

STOCK MARKET DEVELOPMENTS

The Zimbabwe Stock Exchange (ZSE) was bullish, during the month of May 2019, as strong demand continued to characterize trading on the local bourse. The rally on the stock market was driven by investors looking to preserve value, due to inflationary pressures and the depreciation of the local currency. As a result, the All share index increased by 40.68% to 188.06 points, from 133.69 points recorded in April 2019. The Top 10 index gained 55.33 points to close at 182.99 points during the same month.

The bull run on the ZSE market was reflected in a month-on-month increase in market capitalisation of $7.42 billion to $24.92 billion as at close of May 2019, compared to $17.50 billion recorded in April 2019.

INFLATION OUTTURN

Annual Inflation

Annual headline inflation increased to 97.85% in May 2019, from 75.86% in April 2019. This was largely attributable to increases in both food and non-food inflation.

All food sub-categories registered annual price increases in May 2019, largely driven by vegetables, bread and cereals, and meat. Prices of bread and cereals rose due to shortages of wheat, as well as the cost build-up along the value chain.

Similarly, all non-food categories recorded price increases in May 2019, with the largest increases recorded for transport; housing water, electricity, gas and other fuels; alcoholic beverages and tobacco; and clothing and footwear.

Source: ZIMSTAT, 2019

Monthly Inflation

On a month-on-month basis, inflation rose to 12.54% in May 2019, from 5.52% recorded in the previous month. The increase in annual inflation was attributed to food inflation which increased to 126.43% in May 2019, from 92.5% in April 2019. Non-food inflation also rose from 68.2% in April 2019, to 85.94% in May 2019.

Notes:

- Depository corporations survey - formerly Monetary Survey.
- Broad money redefined using IMF's Monetary and Financial Statistics Manual of 2000. Major changes include exclusion of Government deposits held by banks from broad money.
- Transferable deposits made up of demand and savings deposits.
- NCDs are also referred to as securities included in broad money.
- All classes of time deposits, short and long term are classified as time deposits, which are also termed other deposits.
- Credit to the private sector now excludes claims on other financial corporations, as well as claims on state and local government (local authorities)
- Depository corporations made up of the Central Bank and other depository corporations
- Other depository corporations (ODCs) - Commercial banks, merchant banks, building societies and POSB.
- In December 2017, the statistics were adjusted in retrospect by reclassifying Securities issued under Afrades from claims on government to claims on central bank
- In December 2017, the statistics were adjusted in retrospect by reclassifying amounts accessed by banks under the Afrades from liabilities to Other Depository corporations and Other Financial Corporations to liabilities to Central Bank
- In December 2018, statistics were revised from November 2017 due to reclassification of lines of credit (foreign liabilities) that were initially classified as deposits included in broad money
- All monetary and financial statistics are valued in ZWL$ since the introduction of the interbank foreign exchange market in February 2019
